Dear Mr. Blucke,

I understand that Onlineorderdesk.com is a website that will allow registered users access to an ordering system to place orders between Retail Liquor Licensees and Licensed Wineries.

- Your company is simply a web application which facilitates the ordering, by Retail Licensees only, of product from Wineries registered with you.
- All sales take place between the Retailer and the Winery. Your company would not be a party to the sales transaction of the products.
- Retail Licensees would contract directly with the Wineries for delivery of wine products.
- Wineries would pay you a fee for the right to be registered and to use your ordering system.

Based on the material you have sent me and my understanding of your company as outlined above, Onlineorderdesk.com and the Liquor Licensees that use this website appear to be in compliance with Washington State liquor laws.

Yours sincerely,

Lt. Richard Manoli
Enforcement, Non-retail
